

Shaken Baby Syndrome Prevention Materials Ordering Information

Description of Materials

All materials can be viewed on, and printed directly from, the www.shakenbaby.ca website – see Resources for Parents with Babies. When printed directly from the website there will not be any logos on the materials with the exception of the translated plain language brochure. Materials available for ordering include the following:

The Letter Fold Brochure (CH 1235) is adaptable to many circumstances but is particularly good for use in waiting rooms – social services, hospitals, doctors offices, clinics, community agencies serving families, etc. where people may take the time to read all of the information included.

The Crying Plan (CH 1234) is intended for use as a handout or as an exercise where parents can write in personal information about supports in their families and communities. Instructions for using it as an exercise are available at the www.shakenbaby.ca website – see Resources for Parents with Babies - see crying plan and For Coping with Crying - Guidelines for Assessment and Using the Crying Plan.

The Plain Language Brochure (CH 1233) has considerably less content than the letter-fold but still covers the key messages for parents about crying, and coping with crying, as well as SBS. This is also useful in many contexts but is a good fit when parents have lower literacy levels or are looking for an easy-to-read source of information. This brochure lends itself well to being included in larger packages of information such as those that parents receive at discharge from hospital after delivery, program orientation packages, etc. This brochure is also available on the website in Arabic, Farsi, French, Hindi, Korean, Punjabi, Simplified Chinese, Spanish, Traditional Chinese, Urdu, and Vietnamese are available.

Ordering through Capital Health

In many regions materials may be available to order through the Health Region – a local public health office, or the health region website, may be able to provide access information. If printing, or purchasing, locally is not a viable alternative, anyone, anywhere in Alberta can order the SBS materials through Capital Health. They will have the Capital Health and Caritas logo's on them but there is still room to apply a label with local contact information, etc if desired.
