Building the ACHSC Network through Knowledge Exchange: A Needs and Capacity Survey (May 5-19, 2006)

Who is ACHSC?

The ACHSC network is made up of people from many different organizations that are interested in the health of school-aged children and youth, health promotion, and comprehensive school health (CSH). We have joined together to build connections, share knowledge, and seek partnership opportunities for creating and sustaining healthy school communities.

In order to increase capacity of the ACHSC network your perspectives and opinions are essential and valued.
Please complete the ACHSC survey before Friday, May 19, 2006

What is the purpose of survey?

It is evident that many people in the ACHSC network have a good understanding of the theory behind CSH. ACHSC continues to seek opportunities to increase capacity and strengthen this understanding. However, in order to assist in knowledge sharing, ACHSC requires more information from the network as to specific knowledge, skill and resource needs to support the practice of CSH.

This survey is being conducted to answer the following questions:

To make a difference in your ability to act individually and collectively to plan, implement, and evaluate comprehensive school health approaches

...

What knowledge, skills and resources do you need and currently use?

What are the priority health topics?

What are the main barriers and factors that facilitate success?
